Different intelligent tutoring systems (ITS) were implemented in several subject domains. Examples of such systems are briefly mentioned as shown below: There were two ITS projects that functioned based on the conversational dialog: AutoTutor and Why2-Atlas. Some intelligent tutoring systems were also presented by several researchers.

However, Intelligent Tutoring Systems, as one of the most adaptive system types, remained in the focus of interest. Due to this, it is surprising that there exists no ITS architecture, no guideline how to implement these systems, and no structured, software engineered approach, which helps to develop comparable systems.
